

Stimulant-related overdose death rates by region:

- 13.3% Northeast
- 12.6% South
- 12.4% West
- 12.1% Midwest

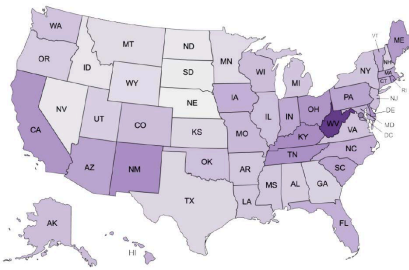

Percentage of Stimulant-Related Deaths by Race, 2020

White Americans (76.1%) and Black Americans (19.5%) are most impacted by stimulant-related deaths.

Stimulant-related overdose deaths (per 100k) are located primarily in the Southern region:

- 44.0 West Virginia
- 21.5 Kentucky
- 20.6 Tennessee
- 16.4 South Carolina

There are no real stimulant treatment program options, which are limited to Counseling or Cognitive Behavioral Therapy.

72.1%

Males account for 72.1% of all stimulant-related overdose deaths in the U.S. compared to women who account for just 27.9%

Among recreational methamphetamine users, the demographic group most likely to develop lifetime use are White Males aged 26 and older with a high school diploma or less education and earning $20,000 or less a year